

Position 1: Political Science

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield: Comparative Politics – Developing World

Application Deadline: Dec. 15th, 2019

Start Date: September 1st, 2020

Salary: Competitive

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Comparative Politics with a substantive focus on countries or regions in the developing world. We are especially interested in scholars using big data, machine learning, or experimental and quasi-experimental methods; and whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply on Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70321>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions regarding the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international. IE University is strongly committed to non-discriminatory hiring practices, and encourages applications from individuals who will further expand the diversity of our faculty.